Excerpt: .abstract conceptions which correspond to the fundamental facts of the physical world. CHAPTER X CONIC SECTIONS When the Greek geometers had exhausted, as they thought, the more obvious and interesting properties of figures made up of straight lines and circles, they turned to the study of other curves; and, with their almost infallible instinct for hitting upon things worth thinking about, they chiefly devoted themselves to conic sections, that is, to the curves in which planes would cut the surfaces of circular cones. The man who must have the credit of inventing the study is Menaechmus (born 375 B.c. and died 325 B.c.); he was a pupil of Plato and one of the tutors of Alexander the Great. Alexander, by the by, is a conspicuous example of the advantages of good tuition, for another of his tutors was the philosopher Aristotle. We may suspect...
